

Abstract / Summary	ii
Declaration / Statements	iii
Epigraph.....	iv
Acknowledgements	v
Table of Contents.....	vi

Introduction

.....	1
-------	---

Chapter One

Technological Change and Progress in the Sustainable Development Literature...	11
--	----

Chapter Two

Technological Optimism in the Economics of Climate Change.....	35
--	----

Chapter Three

The Problem of Progress: Habermasian and Foucauldian Methodological Approaches.....	67
--	----

Chapter Four

Adam Smith: The Theological Origins of Growth Economics.....	97
Smithian Economics and Technological Change.....	98
Smith's Predecessors.....	104
Smith and the Scientific Revolution.....	117
Smith and Natural Law.....	127
The Smithian Basis of Economic Rationality.....	146

Chapter Five

David Ricardo and Thomas Malthus: The Birth of the Science of Progress.....	156
The Great Divide: Ricardian and Malthusian Methodologies.....	161
The Emergence of Ricardian Economics.....	171
Ricardian Economics and Technological Change.....	182
Ricardo and "Pessimism".....	190
The Malthusian Critique of Ricardianism.....	199
Negative Progress and Exogenous Technological Change.....	208

Chapter Six

Mill to the Marginalists: Continuity and Formalism.....	224
---	-----

John Stuart Mill: Ricardianism Refined.....	229
Marginalism: The Triumph of Mathematics.....	241
Alfred Marshall: Discontinuity Suppressed.....	261

Chapter Seven

Keynes, Marx and Schumpeter: The Rationality Challenged.....	266
John Maynard Keynes: Malthus's Revenge.....	266
Karl Marx and Joseph Schumpeter: Radicalism Reassessed.....	277

Chapter Eight

Solow and Romer: The Classicism of the Present.....	304
Robert Solow: Disharmony Lost.....	304
Paul Romer: The Return of Mixed Progress.....	327

Conclusion

.....	348
-------	-----

Bibliography

.....	358
-------	-----