Participant Information Sheet

INHABIT - Understanding the Interactions that cHildren And young people have with their natural and Built environmenTs

Thank you for your interest in the study titled: 'INHABIT - Understanding the INteractions that cHildren And young people have with their natural and Built environmenTs'.

Before you decide whether or not to take part, it is important for you to understand why the research is being undertaken and what it will involve. Please take time to read the following information carefully and discuss it with others including your family, if you wish.

1. What is the purpose of this study?

Spending time outdoors has been shown to support young peoples' good mental health and well-being. However, previous research suggests that young people are spending less time outdoors than at any other time in history. What we don't know however is whether this is the case in Wales. We also don't know whether young people think they have the capability, are motivated or have the opportunity to spend time outdoors. Therefore, this study aims to understand how young people in Wales are interacting with their built (human made surroundings) and natural (naturally occurring surroundings) environments, from both a parent's perspective and importantly from the perspective of young people. For the purposes of this study, we are interested in public outdoor spaces (not including private gardens).

2. Who is running the study?

The research team includes Dr Catherine Purcell (Cardiff University), Dr Emily Holmes (Bangor University), Dr Amy Mizen (Swansea University), Dr Tracie McKinney (University of South Wales), Dr Marco Arkesteijn (Aberystwyth University), Dr Kim Knowles (Aberystwyth University) and Dr Ginu Rajan (Cardiff Metropolitan University). In addition, members of the public, specifically four parents and three young people, are actively contributing to this study.

3. Who can take part?

You have been invited to take part because you live in Wales and you are aged between 12-16 years old.

4. Do I have to take part?

No, your participation in this research project is entirely voluntary and it is up to you to decide whether or not to take part. If you are unsure about whether to complete the questionnaire, then we suggest that you speak to your family about whether to take part or not. If you decide that you want to take part, then click the next button at the bottom of this information sheet to access the e-consent form, once you have provided your e-consent you will automatically access the questionnaire. If you decide not to take part, you do not have to explain your reasons and it will not affect your legal rights.

You are free to withdraw from the research project up to the point when you press the submit button. You do not have to explain your reasons for not completing and submitting the questionnaire. However, once you have submitted your questionnaire you will not be able to withdraw your data, this is because the questionnaire data is entirely anonymous so we will not be able to identify your specific questionnaire.

5. What will taking part involve?

If you do decide to take part, then click next at the end of this information, this will take you to an e-consent form to complete. If you complete the e-consent form, then when you click next you will be taken straight to the questionnaire.

The questionnaire should take no longer than 10 minutes to complete and is entirely anonymous. Once you have completed the questionnaire you will see a debrief sheet which provides you with contact details of organisations that you may want to access for support/information.

6. Will I be paid for taking part?

No. Unfortunately, you will not get paid for taking part in this study.

However, you do have the option to enter a prize draw: first prize is £25, second prize is £15 and third prize is £10, if you wish to enter the prize draw then please click on the link at the end of the questionnaire - you will need to ask a parent to enter their email address. Your parents email address will not be linked to your questionnaire responses. You can't provide your own email address. The prize draw will take place at the end of August 2023. Email addresses will not be linked to questionnaire data.

7. What are the possible benefits of taking part?

There may not be any direct benefit to you from taking part in this study. However, the findings from this study will enable us to better understand how young people in Wales are interacting with their built and natural environments, from a parent's perspective and importantly from the perspective of young people. In the longer term, this understanding may enable us to, for example, influence infrastructure changes that are evidence-based, such as location of cycle routes, or incentives for active travel.

8. What are the possible risks of taking part?

The questions ask you to consider your behaviour in relation to the outdoors, as well as what motivates you to spend time outdoors and whether you feel you have the capability and/or the opportunity to spend time outside. As such, the questions ask you to reflect on your interactions with outdoor space. This may, unintentionally, cause you some distress. In the event that you do experience any distress, please feel free to skip questions, or to exit the questionnaire entirely. If you exit the questionnaire before you have hit the submit button then your responses will not be saved.

At the end of the questionnaire you will see a debrief sheet, which provides you with contact details and websites of organisations that you may want to access for support/more information about how to access the outdoors. Once you have submitted your questionnaire your data will be entirely anonymous and stored securely (please see 'What will happen to my personal data' for more information).

9. Will my taking part in this research project be kept confidential?

All information collected from (or about) you during the research project will be kept confidential and any personal information you provide will be managed in accordance with data protection legislation. Please see 'What will happen to my Personal Data?' (below) for further information.

10. What will happen to my Personal Data?

Your parent's email address will be known if they agree to provide it in order for you to be included in the prize draw or if you email a member of the project team with a query. Once the prize draw has taken place (August 2023) and / or your query has been addressed, your email will be immediately deleted. All other data collected from the questionnaire however will be completely anonymous.

Cardiff University is the Data Controller and is committed to respecting and protecting your personal data in accordance with your expectations and Data Protection legislation. Further information about Data Protection, including:

- your rights
- the legal basis under which Cardiff University processes your personal data for research

- how to contact the Information Commissioner's Office

may be found at <https://www.cardiff.ac.uk/public-information/policies-and-procedures/data-protection>

Printed copies of the above-mentioned documentation and privacy notices can be provided on request.

11. What happens to the data at the end of the research project?

In accordance with the Cardiff University Records Retention Schedule (2021), your data (your anonymous questionnaire) will be destroyed after 5 years. It may however be published in support of the research project and/or retained indefinitely, where it is likely to have continuing value for research purposes. Your identity will not be added as the questionnaire is anonymous.

12. What will happen to the results of the research project?

It is our intention to publish the results of this research project in academic journals and present findings at conferences. We also plan to share the findings with parents and young people as well as youth organisations and other interested parties. Participants will not be identified in any report, publication or presentation. The results are likely to be published in 2024 and you will be able to obtain a copy of the published results by contacting any member of the research team.

13. What if there is a problem?

If you wish to complain or have grounds for concerns about any aspect of the manner in which you have been approached or treated during the course of this research, please contact Dr Catherine Purcell at PurcellC2@Cardiff.ac.uk. If you remain unhappy and wish to complain formally, you can do this by contacting the School of Healthcare Sciences Director of Research Governance (Dr Jen Davies daviesj@cardiff.ac.uk 02920688581).

If you are harmed by taking part in this research project, there are no special compensation arrangements. If you are harmed due to someone's negligence, you may have grounds for legal action, but you may have to pay for it.

Thank you for taking part in this study.

What were we looking for?

As mentioned in the Participant Information Sheet, this study aims to understand how young people in Wales are interacting with their built and natural environment, from a parent's perspective and importantly from the perspective of young people.

Storage of Data

As outlined in the Participant Information Sheet, the data you provide is processed in compliance with GDPR. All data will remain completely confidential and anonymous.

What should I do if I have concerns about this study?

If you wish to complain or have grounds for concerns about any aspect of the manner in which you have been approached or treated during the course of this research, please contact Dr Catherine Purcell at PurcellC2@Cardiff.ac.uk. If you remain unhappy and wish to complain formally, you can do this by contacting the School of Healthcare Sciences Director of Research Governance (Dr Jen Davies daviesj@cardiff.ac.uk 02920688581).

Support and Information

If any aspect of this study has inadvertently caused you any distress please contact your GP. If you wish to raise any safeguarding concerns, please contact your school's Safeguarding Officer.
